U.S. Mediterranean Fleet Prepared To Use A-Bombs; Air Power Rushed To France

Washington, (AP)—America's part in building up European defenses brought these developments yesterday: Word that the U. S. Mediterranean fleet probably is prepared to use atomic bombs if necessary, and an announcement that a light bomber wing is being sent to France.

Secretary of the Navy Kimball was asked at a news conference: "Is the Sixth Fleet set to deliver an A-bomb if necessary?" He replied, "I would guess so."

Kimball's guess was the first hint that any naval unit is now prepared to deliver an A-bomb, although it previously had been announced that aircraft carrier crews were being trained to that end.

The Air Force said the 126th Light Bomber Wing, made up of about 1,600 officers and men and 48 conventionally powered B-26 bombers, will be stationed at Bordeaux. It was drawn from Illinois and Missouri National Guard squadrons.

This will be the first wing sent to France since World War Two, but Air Force plans call for sending another wing—this one probably composed of jet fighters—to Western Europe by the end of this year.

Other units are to follow before next June.

Kimball said the U. S. fleet in the Mediterranean has been built up to 60 or 70 warships, twice the size it was a year ago. These ships carry about 20,000 men.

With the arrival of the new bomber wing in France, the Air Force will have in all of Europe about 43,200 officers and men. The total is about evenly divided between the United Kingdom and the Continent.

Ex-Con Arrested In Liquor Deaths

Atlanta (AP)—A 360-pound ex-convict was charged with murder yesterday in the deaths of 31 Atlantans from a deadly batch of moonshine.

Solicitor General Paul Webb said the huge Atlanta man, John R. (Fat) Hardy, 44, had a criminal record three pages long.

The lethal liquor—a mixture of wood alcohol and water—began taking its toll late Sunday night.

Since then 29 Negroes and two white persons have died. In addition, the City hospital has been swamped with 301 other victims whose symptoms ranged from nausea to blindness.

In nearby Winder, Ga., two white men died of Methyl alcohol poisoning Wednesday night and a third was in critical condition bringing the total fatalities in the Atlanta area to 33.

Results Flow From Unusual Ad For House

Anderson, Ind., (AP)—An Anderson house seeker who said routine advertising produced no results said yesterday she got several offers with this classified ad:

"Three drunken adults, three vicious children need rental. Rent no object. We never pay our bills."

Living Costs Edge Upward To New High

Washington (AP)—Higher prices for clothing, particular fall and winter apparel, helped yesterday to push the government's cost of living index to a new record high.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, announcing its figures for September 15, said the latest survey shows living costs were 186.06 per cent of the 1935-39 level. This was a gain of 0.6 per cent in the August 15-September 15 period and an increase of 6.9 per cent as compared with September 1950.

Apparel costs went up 2.7 per cent in the month, to a record high of 209 per cent of the 1935-39 average. Fall and winter clothing had not been figured in the index since the end of last winter, when there were many clearance sales. Also the cost of wool has climbed during the last year.

Food prices edged up during the August 15-September 15 month to 227.3 per cent of the 1935-39 average, a gain of 8.2 per cent in a year. In the 56 cities surveyed, food prices gained in 33, dropped in 21 and were unchanged in two.

The overall gain in living costs will mean, a small pay boost for more than 100,000 workers whose pay rate it hitched to changes in the government index. The 100,000 include 70,000 employees of General Electric.

Rose By Any Other Name Would Be A Race, Cop Maintains At Trial Of Paperhanger

Philadelphia (AP)—A paperhanger and police disagreed yesterday on whether a rose is a rose or a rose.

There were other points of disagreement when the paperhanger, Elmer Groff, 29, appeared before Magistrate Stanley N. Bednarek on a charge of telephoning in horse race bets.

Groff said his business is not just snip and paste, stand back and admire. He explained he must measure his rooms, fix on a pattern and price with his customer and order his materials, too.

That is what he was doing when four policemen arrested him in a public phone booth in North Philadelphia on Wednesday.

Police based their charge on a small scrap of paper they said

U.N. Submits Proposal For Buffer Zone

Munsan, Korea, Friday (AP)—A concrete Allied proposal for a Korean buffer zone, involving cession of about 200 square miles of territory by each side, put the next cease-fire move squarely up to the Communists today.

Subcommittees met for one hour and a half and adjourned for the day at 12:30 p. m. (10:30 p. m. EST, Thursday).

There was no immediate announcement of the results. Presumably the Communists gave their answer to the Allied buffer zone proposal or countered with a proposal of their own.

There was speculation that some sort of compromise would be effected after the Reds made a counter-proposal. Upon this might depend the speed with which the United Nations and Communist negotiators settle this thorny question or go into a possible new deadlock.

The sudden Allied proposal was introduced at a subcommittee meeting immediately after the true negotiations were resumed, ending a 64-day suspension.

It was on this issue that the previous talks were snarled, but the Reds themselves offered to start all over with clean slate.

The old mark, set September 19, was 20 locomotives and 272 rail cars destroyed or damaged.

For the fifth straight day, Russian-built MIGS made determined efforts to break up the Allied raids. A total of 80 enemy jets pressed three aggressive attacks against 63 or more Allied planes.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force claimed one MIG was damaged in a 10-minute clash between 31 Sabres and jets and an estimated 50 MIGS.

The Air Force reported one Marine-piloted Corsair fighter, hit by ground fire, crashed behind enemy lines. It said there was no chance that the pilot survived.

In the ground war, U. S. Patton tanks headed to the western outskirts of Kumsong and shot up the former Red supply base, setting new fires. The rampaging tanks cut through Chinese mortar fire to approach the city, 30 miles north of Parallel 38.

It would run from the mouth of the Yongsan river in western Korea to a point 11 and one-half miles southeast of Kosong on the east coast where the Allies are now 50 miles north of Parallel 38.

Under this plan, the Reds would lose Kaeong, the old true negotiation site. The Allies would give up some east coast and central positions but would retain Heartbreak and Bloody ridges in the east and a piece of ground northwest of Yongsong, all won at the cost of many casualties.

Maj. Gen. Henry L. Hodges, head of the U. N. subcommittee, in presenting his proposal with maps, suggested that the Reds accept it or face a less favorable one later. He noted that during the long suspension of the talks, the battle line had moved many miles north.

The Reds in the past have insisted that they would agree only to the 38th parallel as a cease-fire line. Recently there have been indications that they would settle for less.

Food prices edged up during the August 15-September 15 month to 227.3 per cent of the 1935-39 average, a gain of 8.2 per cent in a year. In the 56 cities surveyed, food prices gained in 33, dropped in 21 and were unchanged in two.

G. Washington, Abe Lincoln Found Guilty

Detroit, (AP)—George Washington was found guilty of lying and Abraham Lincoln convicted of engaging in an illegal occupation here yesterday.

Washington, a 45-year-old Detroit, was found guilty of lying to obtain $65 in unemployment benefits, fined $25 and ordered to make restitution.

Lincoln, a 65-year-old Detroit, was fined $50 and ordered unemployed (sent to jail, that is) for 60 days for possessing $1,748 in gambling receipts.

Allied Planes Attack Reds' Rail Transport

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Friday, (AP)—Allied planes smashed the Korean war's record blow at Communist rail transport yesterday. Pilots estimated they destroyed or damaged 36 locomotives and 289 railcars in a series of bombing and strafing attacks centered in the northwest.

The old mark, set September 19, was 20 locomotives and 272 rail cars destroyed or damaged.

For the fifth straight day, Russian-built MIGS made determined efforts to break up the Allied raids. A total of 80 enemy jets pressed three aggressive attacks against 63 or more Allied planes.

Extra Income Admitted By Tax Collector

Washington, (AP)—Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap testified yesterday that tax collector Joseph P. Marcelle understated his own income by $11,419 and claimed unsubstantiated tax deductions of $23,097 while in charge of the revenue office at Brooklyn.

In the view of the department, any such income tax discrepancy on the part of any of our employees would be considered very serious," Dunlap told a House ways and means subcommittee. The group is delving into charges of widespread corruption in the Internal Revenue service.

Marcelle, who resigned by request last Tuesday, informed the investigators that he earned more than $170,000 in sideline activities while collecting taxes for the First district of New York.

He also conceded that his income tax returns never were audited during his term of office, which began in 1944.

Marcelle said he had his returns made out by Herman J. Schmidt, chief of the income tax division in his office, and signed them without reading them.

"I took it for granted they were okay," he said.

Repeatedly Marcelle acknowledged that he had been "very careless" about his personal tax affairs. But he maintained he had run his tax office "meticulously."

Earlier, Marcelle told the committee he didn't know why Dunlap had asked him to quit.

"In the main I enjoyed one of the most beautiful relations with the taxpayers," he said.

The dapper witness testified he made a profit of about $60,000 between 1945 and 1948 from the Eastern Electric Vending Machine Co., an enterprise he said he organized to sell canned goods and other products from coin machines. Then, he said, he sold his stock in the firm for another $60,000.

At night and on his days off, Marcelle continued, he operated from his home "a neighborhood and more or less charitable law practice." He testified this netted him $51,580 from 1944 through 1949. Most of his cases in recent years were guardianships which "came from the courts," Marcelle said.

"We're not getting anywhere," Ryan said. "We're leaving."

As peace talks collapsed, strike leader John (Gene) Sampson told newsmen:

"That means Philly and Baltimore will be tied up too."

He said dock workers in those two big ports were meeting to decide whether to quit their piers.

The rebel wildcat strikers in New York have insisted that a new work contract be junked and another one with larger pay scales be negotiated.

Ryan has refused to honor this demand. He said to do so would be to renege on a signed and sealed agreement with shipping firms.

The shippers themselves flatly refused to reopen wage talks with the wildcat stevedores.

Earlier, the rebel dock hands lifted their blockade of some crucial Army piers, but balky stevedores still refused to load a majority of military ships.

The commission estimated the changes, less than half of what the agency sought, will increase express charges by about $29,500,000 a year.

Commission officials said the company has had a $21,000,000 increase in wage costs during the past year, plus a $1,500,000 jump in materials costs, and that the authorized increases "will not take the express operation out of the red."

Rail Union Shop Talks Collapse

Washington, (AP)—Efforts by the National Mediation Board to obtain agreement between 17 non-operating unions and the nation's railroads on negotiation of union shop agreements collapsed yesterday.

Arbitration of the issue may be referred to the parties today but it was indicated in advance such a proposal would be rejected.

That would mean President Truman will have to appoint an emergency board under terms of the railway labor act. An emergency board would recommend a settlement.

Conservatives Deal Attlee Crushing Blow In Election

London, Friday, (AP)—The Conservatives dealt Socialism a smashing blow in the national elections, and today were within reach of a victory sending Winston Churchill back to the prime ministry at the age of 76 after six bleak years on the sidelines.

Results in nearly half the 625 parliamentary districts pointed to a political and personal triumph for the old warrior who led Britain to victory in World War Two only to be brushed aside when the weary people adopted the Socialist (Labor) party's promises of a better life.

The Conservatives wrested 11 House of Commons seats from Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee's Laborites. The Liberal party ousted a Laborite in still another district. That made a net loss of 12 seats for the Laborites, who had an overall majority of only six in the last Parliament.

The Laborites, at the halfway point in tabulation, had failed to take a single seat from Churchill's men—and by all normal standards the full Conservative strength was yet to appear.

Churchill and his supporters campaigned on the theme that Attlee's party lacked the skill and power to restore Britain to strength and to save her from becoming the battleground of a third world war. Churchill, 77 next November 30, spoke of it as the "last prize" he wanted—the chance to get into the fight for peace at the helm of the government.

Final returns from yesterday's elections are not due until tonight, but Labor party leaders privately conceded the trend meant the end of Britain's era of Socialism. One predicted Churchill might have a majority of 35 seats or so in the House of Commons. For the last few months, the Laborites have struggled along with a majority of only a half dozen seats.

A swing of Liberal party strength to Churchill's Tories was a decisive factor.

In the last election the Liberals entered 475 candidates. This time they put up only 108. The "orphan" vote went Conservative in districts where it hurt Labor most.

The polls closed last night at 9. Early today the counting reached the 323-seat mark, and the tabulation was suspended until about 11 a.m. (6 a.m. EST). The remaining 302 seats will be accounted for in the later tabulations.

By 2 a.m. Conservative party headquarters had an air of "we're in." Shortly after 3 a.m. Gerald O'Brien, Conservative press spokesman, said

Job Education Program Under Way At Stroudsburg High; Students Receive Actual, Supervised Work Experience

One of the most practical and, potentially, one of the most powerful job-education programs in this area is now officially underway at Stroudsburg High school.

The program, a 1951 development at the high school, is unusual in that it attempts to prepare the student for a specific job while he is still attending classes, gives him actual work experience under a capable supervisor and places a portion of the responsibility for his education on an employer.

One of the men behind this innovation in modern education is Robert H. Hawlik, industrial arts instructor and now work experience coordinator at Stroudsburg High school. Hawlik, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree and Master of Education from Penn State, has made an extensive and thorough going study of work experience programs set forth by Wilson H. Ivins and others of the University of New Mexico and others who have pioneered in the field.

When school started in September, Hawlik went to Allentown where a similar system had been in practice for the past six years. From officials there he gained firsthand knowledge of problems he and other administrators would be forced to meet and handle.

Hawlik spent days in consultation with students, employers and parents in the Allentown area in an effort to determine the program's long range effect on employment and scholastic standards.

Approval from State in Harrisburg was the next step on the ladder for the Stroudsburg program. Headquarters there gave the go-ahead sign and sent along valuable information in the form of pamphlets and statistics on student employment. Percentage figures on student higher education proved an invaluable point in discussions of the new program. Of 1,000 pupils in the fifth grade today, Harrisburg estimates only 467 will graduate from high school, 51 from college.

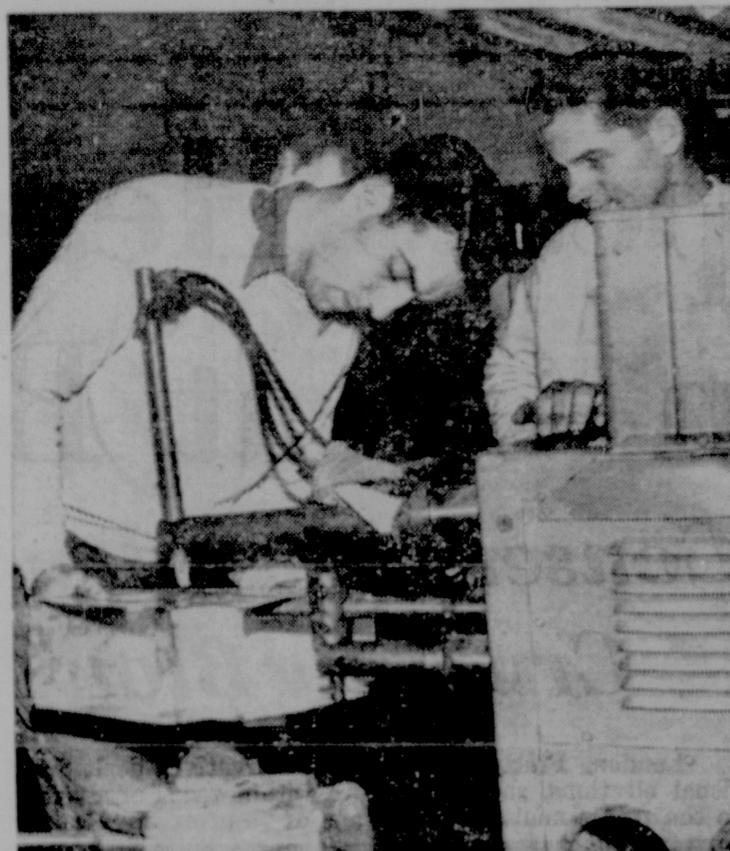

Following approval of the program, Hawlik set out to contact small local employers who have from one to five employees in their shops or firms. Small firms, according to leaders in the field, have more time to spend directly on the student in teaching him the trade or business with which he is associated. The student, in turn, feels less confused by a job in more limited surroundings.

Under the present program child labor laws are strictly enforced.

When an employer agrees to participate in the work experience program he is in a position of becoming a "teacher-employer", teaching the student the trade at which he is working and paying him for the work he does.

Students are rated by the teacher-employer on cooperative grade report cards which are filled out every six weeks. These cards serve as progress reports on the student as a workman, his capacities for learning and abilities to execute that learning.

The student, in return, receives the same credit toward graduation as he would if he were spending his job-time in the high school shop.

Roughly the student's schedule measures up like this: 8:45-11:45 a.m., academic studies at school. Lunch period from 11:45 a.m. to 1 p.m. At 1 p.m. he reports to his job and begins work for the day.

This means the student spends a total of 20 hours per week at his job (five 4-hour days). The balance of the average 40-hour week goes into actual classroom study and lunch periods.

Pay for the afternoon jobs ranges from "about 60 cents" an hour at the beginning to 75 cents base pay in all shops engaged in Interstate commerce, as required by Federal law.

To most of the students who are now employed under the new work-education plan, however, the salary is not the most important thing. There are many other facets to be taken into consideration, both by the student and the employer.

The latter gets much needed relief during the current manpower shortage. He is assisted in his employment problems by school officials who have both the interests of the prospective worker and his future employer at heart. These men carefully screen applicants for specific jobs prior to their employment interviews to determine which boy is best fitted for the job opening.

Academically, school officials believe the student may benefit greatly and lose nothing. Rating cards are so arranged that the student must maintain a passing grade in all academic subjects or be removed from the program.

The students benefit from the program in numerous ways.

One of the biggest problems facing the high school graduate today is "where to find a job?" Too many employers are unwilling to take a risk on a boy who has just graduated from high school and who, legally, is subject to draft within the six or seven months following. Employers say, and rightly, that it takes nearly that long to "break in" a new man. This, of course, means that the training period goes down the drain if, and when, the young man is drafted.

Authorities on work experience believe that, by training students as they are educated, employers will have a better chance to determine precisely who will be valuable to them in the future and, consequently, keep the men under their employment as long as possible.

With the initial groundwork finished, Hawlik contacted the first local employer — Robert L. Christman, operator of the Christman Sheet Metal shop at 1208 N. Fifth St., in Stroudsburg.

John Robert "Bob" Gravie, 1222 N. Fifth, a junior in the school, had worked for Christman during the summer months. According to Christman, Gravie's work had been highly satisfactory during the summer and, consequently, he was in favor of the plan.

Gravie, 16, and six-feet tall, started back to work for Christman on a half-day basis, September 24.

During the four weeks he has worked in the shop Gravie has learned to operate the eight-foot hand brake and four-foot rolls as well as other equipment necessary in the fabrication of sheet metal. He works under the direct supervision of his employer. The shop requires only one additional man to fill orders for custom-made heating equipment which goes out to industrial firms such as the Empire Box Co. and Edinger-Wyckoff or to large resorts like the one at Buck Hill Falls.

From Christman's standpoint the new project has worked out well. His manpower problem ("Skilled help is hard to get in this kind of business") has been solved, at least temporarily; he

Tobyhanna Seeks Designation As 'Critical Defense Area'

Civic League Reports On Steps Taken

Tobyhanna — The possible designation of the "New Town" development as a critical defense area thereby facilitating construction of local housing, was under discussion last night in the Coalbaugh Township High school auditorium at a meeting of the Tobyhanna Civic League.

A report on steps already taken was given by members of the committee and recommendations for further study, including correspondence with legislators, were drawn up by the group.

Earlier in the week the league had received official word from the Signal Corps depot that its sewage disposal plant will be operated independently of the public system for Tobyhanna.

Construction of sidewalks in the village proper was also under discussion by the league. Possible installation of a caution light on the highway leading through the village was recommended.

On display at the meeting was a model automatic voting machine of the type being considered for use in elections in the township. The citizens of the area will be asked to approve or disapprove use of the machines on the ballot at the forthcoming elections.

In other proceedings the league officially donated $50 toward the purchase of a new motion picture projector to be used cooperatively by the Coalbaugh Township High school, the PTA and the Civic League.

Warren F. Nonnemacher, league president, was in charge. It was officially announced at last night's meeting that a ten-member public relations committee has been named to replace the former executive committee.

District Governor Praises Activities Of Rotary Club

Stroudsburg's Rotary club yesterday won the commendation of Nicholas M. Rahn, Mauch Chunk, Governor of District 262 of Rotary International, on his first official visit to the organization.

Gerald M. Anderson, president of the club, introduced Governor Rahn to members of the club. The luncheon meeting was preceded by a club assembly attended by committee chairmen, directors, and executive officers.

A review of club activities and plans for future operations were brought under scrutiny at the assembly and much of the important work discussed there was passed on to members.

Governor Rahn emphasized Rotary's major work of promoting international understanding in his address to members. He noted that Rotary clubs in 83 countries throughout the world are united in their endeavors on this point.

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 7,300 clubs in their own communities to promote this objective, Mr. Rahn said, over a six-year period Rotary International is spending $1,500,000, principally to create better understanding among the peoples of different nations.

The Stroudsburg club now has a membership of 76 with many major classifications of endeavor filled.

After reviewing aims and objects of Rotary, Governor Rahn said Rotary provides a common ground for 350,000 business and professional executives throughout the world, regardless of nationality or political or religious belief.

Bethlehem, has been discharged and is now home. James underwent three operations while at the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Heller, of Nazareth, called on relatives here Sunday afternoon.

Misses Ada and Velma Frable visited at the J. A. Wallingford home Sunday afternoon.

Hunt Safely

Now is the time for every sportsman to stop and reflect on the hazards that go with the sport of hunting. Next Thursday, November 1, these hazards will be at their height with the opening of the small game season.

Last year 467 hunters met with accidents in which firearms were involved. Of this number 15 hunters who sought only pleasure afield met death. Of those who were injured but did not die, many are disabled or disfigured for life.

These tragic incidents happen despite efforts of such organizations as Pocono Mountains Sportsmen's Association which is continually teaching gun safety, especially to the younger and inexperienced hunters.

We'd like to suggest a few simple, but very effective lists of precautions for hunters to observe while in the forest and field.

You wouldn't carry dynamite with a lighted fuse into your automobile. A loaded gun can be just as deadly.

Your gun was designed and built for just one purpose—to kill. The manufacturer did not built brains into the gun. He expected the user to supply that very necessary ingredient.

Once a bullet or shot charge leaves the muzzle of your gun it is beyond your control. YOU can CONTROL the muzzle.

An unattended gun can be a "booby trap." Be sure that your gun is unloaded.

There are a million hunters in Pennsylvania—that moving object in the brush may be one of them.

Be fair to the other fellow—try to look as little like game as possible.

Play safe—wear plenty of red.

Be especially careful of that gun when crossing fences and while walking on unsure footing.

If you want to be safe, and you surely do, practice these precautions. And remind all others how to be careful when handling guns.

Godiva Rides Again

Like all the rest of us, Mrs. Jerry Coburn of Sacramento, Calif., has been somewhat put out about the business of high taxes and how they grow. So, being a lady of few words and much determination, she decided to do something about it.

Her solution? She has volunteered to emulate Lady Godiva in her famous ride through the streets of Coventry, only Mrs. Coburn will ride around the ring at the annual Sacramento County horse show on Sunday.

Mrs. Coburn's helpmeet, who is a plumber, says that what his wife does is her business, and he does not intend to interfere with her plans to strike a blow for the down-trodden taxpayers.

If she incidentally strikes a right telling blow for the gate receipts at the horse show that is something else again, but up to now there has been no indication that the receipts are falling off. Mrs. Coburn, blonde and tall and pretty, thinks that her Lady Godiva ride might do more than a mere letter to emphasize the plight of the public, and we can not find ourselves in disagreement with her theory.

To the Same End

There is no clash in the fact that Wednesday was set aside as United Nations Day as well as the birthday anniversary of William Penn. The aim of the United Nations is peace and tranquility the world around. William Penn lived that something of the same sort should be achieved.

Penn did not map the world for his program but as a peace loving Quaker and an advocate of justice among peoples of all races and religions, he in his day personified the aims and objects of the United Nations.

There could be no more fitting mingling of purpose than the proclamation of United Nations Day on the birthday of William Penn.

SOME OF THE HARDEST TRAINING ever ordered by the Army has been given to the 28th Division, including the local Company G of the 109th Infantry Regiment, during the 13 months it has been on active duty at Camp Atterbury, Ind. At top left, Soldiers prepare to attack "Combat Village," while a TNT charge sends tons of water shooting into the air. At right, a group of smiling soldiers, soaking wet and covered with pounds of mud, leave the infiltration course after a rainy day. Center pictures show intense soldiers manning light machine gun and a bazooka during range exercises. At bottom left, a rifleman fires from behind a pile of rubble on the "transition range," while at right, a planted charge explodes under the snow during winter exercises and virtually lifts running soldier (at right) off his feet. The 28th Division will leave for Europe in mid-November. (U. S. Army Photos).

28th Division Undergoes Final War-Strength Review Today Prior To Leaving For Duty In Western Europe

Enlistees May Specify School

Most enlistees in the Army now may sign up at enlistment time for specific Army schooling courses.

The new program, offered to boost direct enlistments, was reported yesterday by M/Sgt. James J. Marion of the Stroudsburg Army and Air Force recruiting station.

In the words of the announcement, it is now "virtually possible" for "most" enlistees to select a specific Army schooling course of their choice, and their initial training base or camp.

For men without prior service, the schooling will follow basic training at Fort Meade, Md. In the case of previous service men, assignment will be made directly to the selected school.

A few of the courses listed: Radio maintenance, clerical procedures, construction surveying, cryptography, instrument repair, machinist, medical technical procedures, office machine repair, offset press operation, petroleum research, typographic surveying and X-ray.

Some of the military installations an enlistee may pick for his training site: Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.; Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.; Indiana Gap Military Reservation; Camp Gordon, Ga.; Fort Lee, Va.; and Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Prospects wanting more information may obtain it by telephoning Stroudsburg 3586 or visiting the recruiting office at the Stroudsburg post office building.

Camp Atterbury, Ind.—Next month when the 28th Infantry Division embarks for duty in Europe for the third time in 35 years it will be the result of extensive planning and will mark the culmination of more than a year of training.

The "Keystone" Division, under the command of Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, is slated for shipment to Europe in mid-November to become part of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's North Atlantic Pact Army.

A final war-strength review of the division before it embarks has been scheduled for this afternoon. High-ranking civilian and military officials, including Gov. Harry F. Schriener of Indiana and Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania, will be present along with thousands of visitors expected from Indiana and Pennsylvania.

Preparation for the overseas movement has kept officers and enlisted men of the division working long hours. Before the division can be ready to move, everything must be inventoried, inspected and packed and some 18,000 men must be individually processed through a hundreded operations.

For the men who will go with the division, activities are numerous. Dental checks are made on every man, immunization shots are given, personnel records are checked and brought up to date and arrangements are made for them to put their personal affairs in order.

Even though the division was faced with the huge task of preparing for overseas movement each man was given a 14-day pre-embarkation leave.

The former Pennsylvania National Guard unit has been stationed at Camp Atterbury since Sept. 5, 1950. It underwent a 28-week training cycle in blazing heat and in sub-zero temperatures before being molded into a well-trained outfit.

After completing the training cycle last summer the division went to the Fort Bragg, N. C., area in August to take part in "Operation Southern Pine," a joint Army-Air Force maneuver comprising 110,000 men. In September it returned here to prepare for the overseas movement.

Its final review and parade today will draw many families and friends of the troops as the division will be seen in mass formation for the last time in the United States.

No one can tell what lies ahead for the 28th, but its men seem ready to face the future. "We're not going on any picnic," says General Strickler, "we're not just going to occupy some community or just train. We're going over for a definite purpose and we're going to be ready for anything."

Steady Water Supply Given As One Reason For Building Huge Plant At Morrisville

The Delaware River always has water.

That is one reason why the country's largest steel company is building a big mill on the banks of the Delaware, according to the first of a series of articles dealing with the river so familiar to people of this region—in The Business Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia.

The new $400 million, completely integrated Fairless plant of the United States Steel Corp., for which ground was broken near Morrisville, Pa., last March, is now 20 per cent completed. It will employ 6,000 workers when completed and it will attract many additional industries both as suppliers of materials and consumers of steel-mill products.

Already this west bank of the Delaware is undergoing the first phase of construction on the nation's biggest defense housing job—a complete city of 16,000 homes—in the shadow of the Fairless works and Kaiser Metal Products' Fleetwing plant.

Within three years Levitt and Sons, Inc., construction firm in charge of the housing project, expects to transform rolling lands adjacent the Delaware into a community of 60,000.

The Business Review's first article on the Delaware notes that "the Delaware is a short river with a long history." It adds:

The collective waters of the Delaware River are gathered together from a drainage area of almost 13,000 square miles. The region is as shapeless as a crippled character with flying coat tails out of a Dickens' novel. The river does most of its work for Pennsylvania within which exactly half the basin lies. A mere eight per cent of the basin is in Delaware, yet it covers 50 per cent of the state. Somewhat less than one-fifth is in New York where the river has its roots.

The economic importance of the basin is out of proportion to its size, the Review notes. Fully five and a half million people are now living in the area, and that is about 430 to the square mile—ten times the United States average.

After reviewing details of the river's misuse, The Business Review points out that at the instigation of a small group of public spirited citizens formally organized as the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin—called Incodel—Pennsylvania embarked upon a statewide stream cleanup program.

Incodel's program for four dams above Bushkill which would impound the water to insure an adequate flow in the entire length of the river for benefit of residents and industries alike is described.

"The Delaware is in a period of renaissance," The Business Review emphasizes.

Truman Signs Pay Bill For U.S. Employees

Federal employees in this region, mainly postal workers, will receive wage increases as the result of legislation signed into law this week by President Truman.

One measure increases salaries of 1,100,000 Federal "white collar" employees by $300 to $800 a year. A companion bill signed by the President raises the pay of most postal workers by at least $400 a year.

For most of the "white collar" workers, the pay boost will be 10 percent. But those who make less than $3000 a year will get $300 and those paid more than $800 will get $80.

The raises are retroactive to July 1.

These increases will add an estimated $420,000,000 annually to costs of the Federal payroll. Getting the increases are the classified Civil Service workers in the Government.

The separate postal pay increase will add about $252,000,000 more to payroll costs.

The fact that Mr. Truman signed the measures before Nov. 1 gives the workers a "break" on taxes where the lump sum payments are concerned. Had the President delayed his signature until Nov. 1, the lump sum payments now due would have been subject to the higher income tax rates which go into effect on that date.

Dogs Taken Ill With Highly Infectious Disease, Hepatitis

Dog owners here recently reported a number of cases of an infectious canine disease known as hepatitis. The disease has symptoms similar to distemper.

One of the recent victims of the disease was an excellent beagle owned by Officer Edward Harloe, of East Stroudsburg.

The symptoms of disease are vomiting, high temperatures, coughing and running eyes.

Dr. James J. Baker, of the New York Veterinarians College at Cornell University, has been experimenting for the past year with serums to combat the disease.

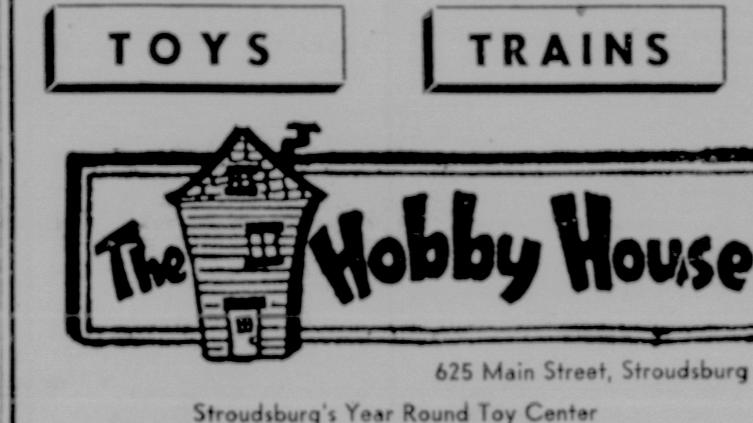

If the infection is caught early, it can be cured by injections of a combination distemper and encephalitis serum, researchers said. They warned that it is a highly infectious disease.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

You know that little apostrophe on the typewriter—the one in Hallowe'en? Well, this season of the year it gets worn down to a nubbin. Did you ever see such a year for parties? Looks to me as if nobody at all would be home tonight.

Parties in Barrett, Pocono Lake, Tannersville, Smithfield, Bushkill, Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg tonight, and in Clearview, Reeds, Saylorsburg, Shawnee, VFW and American Legion tomorrow night.

But it can't last forever. Every fallen leaf moves us that much nearer Thanksgiving, with no apostrophe in it at all.

There still seems to be lots of color on the hills, but it comes as a shock to have the late afternoon sun hit you full in the eye while you're driving west, with no leaves to shelter the streets. Driving past the hospital you get the feeling that your hat's blown off, there's so much open sky.

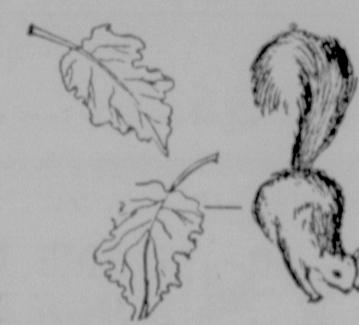

And I suppose the buildings will blend back into their surroundings as we get used to them, but right now they stick out of the landscape all planes and squares. At night, you can see the lights from across the highway through the trees, and the house down the road has moved yards closer. There's magic in Hallowe'en all right.

Listen to Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:05 a.m.

Monroe County League Adopts 1951-52 Basketball Schedule

Mills Named To Second Term As President

Tannersville — Members of the Monroe County League completed plans for the 1951-52 basketball season here at Pocono High school last night during a joint meeting of school coaches and principals.

The group decided to adopt the same sort of schedule that has been used in past years, with each school meeting other members of the circuit on two occasions, on a home-and-home basis. The schedule will be released at a later date.

Otto "Junior" Mills, president of the circuit last year, was unanimously reelected to another term last night.

Representative

Tom Leonard, well known cage official in Monroe county, represented the Stroudsburg Chapter of Basketball Officials at the gathering. This organization will undoubtedly provide the officials for Monroe county league games this season.

The circuit is made up of Barrett, Coalbaugh, Chestnuthill, Polk, Pocono and Tobyhanna Township High schools. Tobyhanna Township has won the cage title for the past two years and will be out to repeat again this season.

Every school in the circuit was represented at last night's gathering.

New Development In Cage Fix Case

New York, (AP) — Three former basketball players of the University of Kentucky, under arrest for conspiracy and bribery in shaving points of the final score of one collegiate game, yesterday admitted receiving $500 each for keeping down the score of another game, District Attorney Frank S. Hogan reported.

Charge

The athletes are charged specifically with conspiring to "shave points" in the national invitation tournament game between Kentucky and Loyola of Chicago in Madison Square Garden March 14, 1949.

The men also admitted receiving $500 each for winning the Kentucky-Tennessee game on February 8, 1949, in the Alumni Gymnasium at Lexington, Ky., by less than 18 points, the margin by which Kentucky was favored, Hogan said. Kentucky won the game, 71 to 56.

Edelman Gains Nod

Philadelphia (AP) — Marvin Edelman, 164, Philadelphia, won a decisive eight round decision last night over Pat Byers, 163, Reading, Pa., before 1,423 fans.

Grid Expert Sees Princeton's Long Winning Streak Ending

By Will Grimsley

New York, (AP) — Our neck was stuck out longer than a giraffe's last week on the California-Southern California game. But it's still intact today, which is more than you can say for the Golden Bears' 38-game regular season winning streak.

All sober dictates are that we should pull in our freckled neck this week and play it safe. But upset wine is heady stuff. Bleary-eyed and bold after our best hit of the season, we say: "Fill 'er up again."

Hold your hats, we're off on another flier:

Cornell over Princeton: Good-bye to the longest major winning streak in football, Princeton's 17 in a row. Rocco Calvo to out-pitch Dick Kazmaier in the east's number one attraction.

Vanderbilt over Georgia Tech: It's "up" week for the up-and-down Commodores, who have one of the nation's great passers in Bill Wade.

Texas over Baylor: Another un-beater record goes out the door. It's tradition that everybody must take it on the chin in the southwest. Next in line is Baylor, catching the Aggies on the rebound.

Notre Dame over Purdue: The Fighting Irish settle another 1950 score.

Maryland over Louisiana State: A good test for the Terrapins' speed and power but Maryland is loaded with too much of the stuff.

Southern California over Texas Christian: Neither will be up to last week's inspired performances, but a slim edge to the Trojans at home in the kiosk of giant-killers.

Illinois over Indiana: John Karas drives another spike in the Illini's railroad track to the Rose Bowl.

California over Oregon State: The Golden Bears get started on a new string, with a basketball-size score.

Texas over Rice: The Longhorns incensed over their loss to Arkansas, come storming back.

Washington over Stanford: The Huskies, beginning to roll, put a crimp in Stanford's bowl hopes.

Michigan State over Pittsburgh: If they all were easy as this we could retire. Also our fan mail would have a kinder tone.

Some others:

Bridgeport Out To Stop Losing Habit

Diplomats Do Everything But Score

Bridgeport, Conn. — The University's Purple Knights will play host to East Stroudsburg State Teachers' College, tomorrow at Candlelight Stadium. The kickoff is slated for 8 p.m.

The Purple Knights have won one game this season while tying one, and losing three. UB opened its season with an impressive win over Adelphi, 18-0, then tied a favored New Britain State Teachers' College, 7-7. Following this, the Purple Knights seemed to lose their magic touch, and suffered successive losses to Wilkes, 25-7, Arnold, 20-13, and New Haven State Teachers, 41-0.

Injuries Hurt

Of course, injuries have hampered the Bridgeport grididers ever since the New Britain game, when four of Coach Walter "Kay" Kondratovich's first string players were sidelined. Frank Costa, a UB fullback, is still sidelined with a dislocated elbow, while the other three, Johnny "Babe" Longo, halfback; Lou Saccone, end, and halfback Marty Ryan, returned to action for the first time last week against New Haven.

The Purple has split even at home, winning one, and losing one, while on the road they have yet to win, with two losses and one tie. Bridgeport will have a decided advantage by playing at home, and will go all out to avenge the 25-6 loss pinned on them in East Stroudsburg, last season.

Co-captains, Saccone and Longo, both veterans of previous seasons, will be expected to carry the brunt of the UB offensive attack.

Allentown, Bethlehem Rate Edge

By Ben French

Harrisburg (AP) — A clash between two of the 27 major unbeaten, untied elevens and a host of important league games highlights this weekend in Pennsylvania schoolboy football.

The tilt between the unblemished teams sends Danville to Lewiston tonight in a battle that will decide the Susquehanna League title. Only one can continue unbeaten and the Lewiston Panthers look to be the strongest.

Elsewhere across the state the important games shape up like this:

Corry at Meadville (tonight) — This is the weekend's big one in the new Section Two Conference. Meadville's twice-beaten Bulldogs rate a touchdown edge.

Greensburg at Latrobe (tonight) — Greensburg had a tough time last week against Altoona but remained unbeaten in WPIAL class "AA" competition. Latrobe is eliminated but will make trouble for its neighborhood rival. Greensburg is a slight choice.

Altoona at Johnstown (tomorrow) — Both these West-Central area giants have failed to live up to expectations this season. The coaches will be shooting all to win this one. The Altoona Mountain Lions are bigger so they get the choice.

Pottsville at Berwick (tonight) — Both are unbeaten in the southern division of the Eastern Conference although Pottsville lost to non-league Lebanon. Berwick's Bulldogs are unbeaten and untied for the entire season so they rate an edge over the Crimson.

Lebanon at Williamsport (tomorrow) — This is the big one for Williamsport's Millionaires, unbeaten so far in the Central Penn League. Once-beaten, once-tied Lebanon is the choice to stop the defending co-champions in an upset.

In other major games across the commonwealth, the choices are:

East — Harrisburg John Harris over Easton; Gettysburg over Chambersburg; West Scranton and Jack Finelli.

Tom Williams and Rocco Cinelli will man the tackle spots on offensive and Leonard "Len" Castelucci will take over the quarterback's duties when the home team has the ball.

In the same two games, "T" Quarterback Bobby Werst completed 21 out of 37 passes against Western Maryland, and 12 out of 25 against Albright.

F. & M. moved within their opponents ten yard line three or four times in each game, but each time a fumble or penalty thwarted a score. No wonder Coach Spoungale is talking about ulcers.

Blackwell Reported On Way To Dodgers For Outfielder

By Joe Reichler

New York, (AP) — A major player trade is brewing between Brooklyn and the Cincinnati Reds whereby Ewell "The Whip" Blackwell may go to the Dodgers in exchange for one of their top-flight outfielders.

Brooklyn Vice President E. J. "Buzzy" Bavasi yesterday admitted he had discussed possible trades with Gabe Paul, new general manager of the Reds, but said nothing concrete had come out of the talks as yet.

Another Meeting

Bavasi declined to say whether Blackwell was the man he sought, but added that another get-together had been scheduled between the two young officials during the draft meeting in Cincinnati, November 20.

The Reds reportedly asked for either Duke Snider, Carl Furillo or Andy Pafko—in that order—in return for "The Whip." They reportedly were agreeable to a man-to-man swap in the case of Snider or Furillo, but demanded a pitcher to go along with Pafko.

"Gabe Paul and I talked a great deal during the 'World Series,'" Bavasi admitted. "Lots of Cincinnati players, including Blackwell, and practically all of the Dodgers were mentioned. But no deal was consummated."

Cavaliers Honored With Dinner

East Stroudsburg High school's football machine, coaches and managers were treated to a sauerkraut and hot dog dinner at Owango Park last night by Paul Turner, of Turner's Meat Market, as a reward for its clear-cut victory over Wilson Borough High last Friday night.

Muransky's Market also helped provide the meal for 53 hungry gridmen, who reportedly actually ate the sponsors out of supplies.

Helpers

Mothers of several of the boys and interested parties helped to prepare and serve the meal.

Those helping were Mrs. Russell Transue, Mrs. Thomas Sommers, Mrs. Jack Kist, Mrs. Hartman, Mrs. Kintz, Mrs. Blake and Mrs. Richard Anderson.

Job Program Under Way At School

Four weeks ago, one of Bob's instructors told him there was a good chance "he might flunk English." Today it seems more likely he'll pull a B from the course. That's Gravile's answer to the often-repeated question: "Will a job lower my grade average?"

Gravile's parents, who were interviewed by Hawlik prior to his re-employment by the sheet metal firm, have been enthusiastic about the project from the beginning. As a part of the overall plan, Hawlik maintains contact with them periodically.

Three other students comprised the initial group employed under this new work experience plan.

The second boy, Gene Norman Caskie, 17 North Fifth St., a senior in the school, began work at Biggs' American restaurant in downtown Stroudsburg, September 25, where he is learning to cook.

James Charles Litts of Marshalls Creek went to work September 27 for his father, G. H. Litts, a contractor.

The last student employed in the first group was Jerry Strunk, a junior, of 515 Oak St., who is now in training at Topper Plastics on Bryant St. in South Stroudsburg. At Topper, Jerry is learning plastic fabrication, a difficult job requiring an acute mind and "lots of time and experience."

Potentially, the Stroudsburg

High school work experience program is intended for both boys and girls. At present the future employees are confined to a twenty-man group selected from the industrial arts department at the school.

Hawlik, Earl Groner and Alfred Munson, along with other school officials, are keeping a tentative watchful eye on all aspects of the program. It is their belief that the project may prove invaluable not only to the students and employers who are directly involved, but to the community as a whole.

To date, a lot of planning has gone into a project which may prove, once and for all, that business and education can work together, given the opportunity, to the great and lasting betterment of both.

It's the incentive that counts. And if an interim progress report is a true indication the Stroudsburg High project has incentive to burn.

Senior-Soph Frolic To Be Held Tonight

Residents are invited to the annual Senior-Sophomore frolic tonight at 8 in the Stroudsburg High school auditorium.

Feature will be a talent show—based on the talent of the sophomore class. The performers will go through a variety of shenanigans, depending on what they answered recently when asked "what can you do?"

If they answered something like "Play the guitar," they'll be handed a guitar on the auditorium stage and instructed to go to it. If they replied, "Eat a lot . . ." the luckless performers will be required to do just that—in public.

The talent show will be run by Betsy Smith and Jack Howitt. The admission charged will swell the fund of the school yearbook.

A dance will follow the talent show.

"PORTRAIT OF A Pulverizer" by Garrett Conover. Framed by lighted tubular forms, the contrasting pulverizer challenged many artists in a variety of individualistic renderings. In this painting the artist presented a realistic interpretation of the various components which make up this section of Sunbury P&L Co. plant.

PP&L's 'Portrait Of Power' Coming To Stroudsburgs

The people of Stroudsburg and vicinity are invited to attend the local showing of "Portrait of Power," the permanent collection of 25 jury-selected paintings of Pennsylvania Power & Light company's Sunbury power plant, the largest anthracite-burning generating plant in the world. On tour throughout the larger cities and towns throughout central-eastern Pennsylvania since early this year, the local showing of these art-in-industry paintings will be held at PP&L's display rooms at 730 Main St., Stroudsburg, from October 29 through November 2, under the joint sponsorship of Pocono Mountains Art group and the PP&L Co.

The exhibition will be open to the public daily from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., and Wednesday, October 31, the exhibition will also be open from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

The paintings were chosen from the original exhibition of 99 paintings executed by artists of the Lehigh Art alliance as a result of a field trip to PP&L's Sunbury plant last September. These paintings, later exhibited in the company's main display room in Allentown, converted into an art gallery for the exhibition, were subsequently purchased by the company and established into the permanent "Portrait of Power" collection.

In commenting on this exhibition, C. G. Long, manager of PP&L's Stroudsburg district, said that these paintings were selected by a jury comprised of Henry Marceau, associate director of the Philadelphia Museum of Art, and Howard Hyman, assistant art director of N. W. Ayer, one of the nation's largest advertising firms. These eminent authorities in the field of art were primarily concerned with good design and imaginative invention as well as pictorial impression symbolizing power.

Said Mr. Marceau after the judging, "we were interested in those pictures in which the artist had somehow caught the spirit, the magnitude and the wonder of Sunbury and had thus met the challenge of industry sitting for its portrait."

Since the original showing in Allentown during November 1950, the power portrait has been viewed by more than 50,000 people and has created a widespread interest.

Cherry Lane

Mrs. William Clugston

The Cherry Lane Methodist church was practically filled on Sunday afternoon, the 21st, for the Home Coming service which is an annual event. The special program of music which had been arranged included two selections by the local choir, one a special arrangement of "Bless This House" and the other "For You I Am Praying". Grace Brink and Jane Seinen sang a duet which was much enjoyed and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolbert sang two duets, accompanied by Vernon Imbt. Mrs.

Wolbert's father, two excellent addresses were made by Dale Learn and Richard Frantz, which with the congregational singing made up the interesting, enjoyable program. After the service old acquaintances and friendships were renewed with the many visitors from other sections who had returned to be with the present members in this service dedicated to home and church.

U. S. Navy battleships are named after states.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1951
March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Using sensible caution in money matters is the best way to insure financial independence. Once in a while, though, you can turn in a good day's performance. Be consistent, don't jump from one thing to another.

April 21 to May 19 (Taurus)—Matters of business and finance are not your forte. You don't put them to work. More wishes mean nothing. Day offers and promises are easily made, but you have to follow through.

May 21 to June 19 (Gemini)—No day to sit back and think about it. Get an early start on that proposition, on your regular work. Make today count. Probably, you may have suggestions, be willing to take them.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Excellent advantages for business, professional and financial. You can do things that are very fruitful, provided it is handled in proper manner. Watch conditions, and your aim results.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Go along with your ideas, without strain or bustle and you will have right incentive to achieve objectives. Don't put your hope on one particular good day. It mode you many failures.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Advice and "don'ts" simple today. Be your own natural individual, honest and hopeful. Don't mind what others say. Forget what isn't your affair. Use gentle persuasion.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra)—Silent, but you can do a lot. Proper energy plus planning will win, along with intelligent deductions. The unpredictable may change things suddenly.

October 23 to November 22 (Scorpio)—You born today have many fine attributes and a few possible failings. The later ones are easily remedied by your own strong will power and your desire constantly to improve and grow better, more useful. May be you are too serious, but you place too high value on the approbation of others. Remember, spiritual values are everlasting and stand us in good stead.

November 23 to December 21 (Capricorn)—You are a born leader. Your intuition, keen mental equipment and intuition, capability in several directions, study, cultivate and rightly use all previous gifts. Birthdays

Business News In Monroe Area

The new Economy Shop, located at 115 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, has been opened by Howard V. Widmer. Mr. Widmer, formerly owner of the East Stroudsburg diner, has stocked first quality wearing apparel for the entire family. Price ranges are strictly within the economy bracket, Mr. Widmer said. The store has been redecorated and remodeled.

Although total wage payments rose three per cent and total working time was two per cent higher, employment in Pennsylvania factories was unchanged from August to September, the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, serving this region, said yesterday.

Both durable and nondurable goods industry divisions followed the over-all pattern in September.

After employing fewer workers, for two months, the electrical machinery industry, led by plants producing television equipment, returned in September to the employment level of the early part of the year.

Employment in September was the same as a year ago, but total wages were 12 per cent greater and total man-hours worked, one per cent higher. The heavy goods industry division, reflecting the impact of defense production, showed large increases, while the soft goods division reported decline.

An entirely new system of government, consisting of River Basin Authorities "more powerful than the State governments" and responsible only to the President will result if recommendations of President Truman's Water Resources Policy commission are followed, the National Water Policy panel of the Engineers Joint council warned in a study released yesterday.

Threat of river basin authorities from Federal government has been emphasized by the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin which seeks development of the Delaware River basin through cooperative action of the States of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware. Incodel will review this threat at their annual conference at Pocono Manor next Monday and Tuesday.

A signal honor has been paid to Robert T. Jones, manager of Pennsylvania Power & Light Company's farm utilization department, in a formal citation presented him by the National Association of Domestic and Farm Pump Manufacturers at its annual meeting held recently in Chicago.

The electric power system industry's scroll of recognition acknowledges Jones' exceptional contributions in the field of electric water system development for rural and farm use and for the work of his company's sales forces in surpassing all previous records for sales of electric water system over the past two years.

Public dependency in Pennsylvania continued to shrink during the early part of October as the State's public assistance rolls registered their nineteenth consecutive semi-monthly decline at the beginning of the year. Figures released by Department of Public Assistance indicate the decline in the rolls in first half of the month amount to approximately 2,990 persons.

As a result of this latest decrease, the total number of persons receiving public assistance in the State is down to 261,757—the smallest number on the rolls since May, 1946, more than five years ago.
